ON BEING POLITE: A lady to a man who chuckles when he gets the wrong number.

The Modern Woodmen meet in business session tonight at the hall at 7:30 o'clock.

S. S. signed a 30th century edition of Maud Muller today, only she was using a lawnmower instead of a rake.

Elks Robinson says it isn't necessary for married people to quarrel. But, think of the delight of making up.

Frank Potts making heads with himself today. Has until May 15 to get up the bird on I. C. C. case recently heard here.

And another "idea" was drawn near. As the retail men are asking: "Have you paid your bills, old dear?"

The days of high finance are at hand, S. S. notices, when jack-knives with a blade space intact, disintegrated into white rats, and other objects of the night of Port Arthur boys will figure in swags with "wags," the commodity desired in trade.

High Court Declines To Rule on Validity of Soapbox Speeches

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The supreme court today declined to render a decision as to whether the city ordinances prohibiting street meetings without permit from mayors are valid. Such an ordinance of Mount Vernon, N. Y., was attacked by Thomas P. Davis and other vocalists who were denied permit for a street meeting. It was held that the mayors had decided to deny all permits to "soapbox" orators. It was argued by the attorneys that the streets are not public speaking places.

YOLANDA WEDS COUNT CALVI

Italian Princess King Victor's Eldest Daughter

MEDIEVAL SPLENDOR

Fascisti Hail Royal Choice of Commoner Husband

By United Press.

ROME, April 9.—Princess Yolanda, oldest daughter of King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Elena, was married today to Count Calvi De Bergoglio, an Italian commoner.

Two ceremonies, a civil one in the Quirinal Palace in which Premier Mussolini acted as clerk and a religious ceremony in the beautiful Paulina Chapel made available by special dispensation of the pope, were performed.

Famed for Her Beauty

The princess, who is 21 years of age, is famed as a horsewoman and for her dark Slavonian beauty, after husband is one of the best riders in the army, a captain in the crack Nizza Cavalry. He is 14 years older than his bride. In marrying Count De Bergoglio, Yolanda renounced her royal rank—but gained the enthusiastic affection of her countrymen, especially the fascisti who hail the princess' choice of an Italian over royal foreigners who sought her hand as an ultimate triumph of Italian nationalism.

Guests and members of the royal family assembled in the green room of the Quirinal shortly before ten o'clock this morning. Before them all came the princess on the arm of her dashing fiancé. Yolanda's striking peller and raven hair made her a vivid study in contrast, which a civil ceremony was performed, after the bridegroom was in his uniform as a cavalry captain with the medals he won for heroism during the world war.

Musical Supper Followed

After the civil and gown followed King Victor and Queen Elena and Queen Margherita, the couple's mother, with the royal princess and the court personnel. Wearers of the Collar of the Annunziata, an old Italian order (Turn to Page 2, Col. 1.)

The president told of the immediate needs of the fund, and expressed the belief that "if we could line up all the labor, service, and other men and women we have helped through the Red Cross, and helped them down the street, we could make our needs. It wouldn't take long to line up the funds."

It was brought out by Rev. Blackstock that, probably several hundred dollars had been moved through the Red Cross, while Miss Lawrence told of the important work the nurses have been conducting and of the necessity to this community of that work being continued.

whose members are "cousins of the king," senate and chamber dignitaries, and the bridegroom's family were on hand.

The civil ceremony lasted only a few minutes.
Premier Mussolini, acting as civil clerk, read the instrument recording the marriage, which was then signed by General Diaz and Admiral Thaon-Dorel, chiefs of Italy's army and navy, as witnesses.

The royal procession formed after the civil ceremony and proceeded to the Pontina Chapel. This time it was in reverse order from that which approached the quinal green room.

Count Macchi, master of ceremonies, led the way, followed by Royal Commissioner of Rome Crenonesi, president of the Provincial Council Orsini, president of the Provincial Deputations Baccelli and officials of different categories according to the order of precedence. The Pontina chapel was simply and richly decorated, red velvet hangings concealing the walls.

Ornamented with red velvet, the altar, which was covered with a special tribute to the royal wedding, facing the altar.

As the wedding procession entered the choir, rendered a sixteenth century carol without accompaniment.

When the all important question was asked the prince answered, "yes" in a firm, musical voice heard throughout the chapel. Rings were exchanged, and the ceremony was over.

HOUSE WARMING

AT M. E. CHURCH

First Service Taxes Capacity Of New Structure
Sunday was a great day for the members of the Methodist church, South. The first service in the new church, corner Fifth and Nashville, being held there yesterday, as well as the inauguration of a fifteen day revival under the leadership of Rev. V. A. Godbey, pastor, and Rev. H. V. A. Godbey, evangelist. The attendance at the evening service taxed the capacity of the large auditorium and the large choir under the direction of Dr. H. V. A. Godbey, the largest assembled here in many months. Two pianos and an orchestra furnished accompaniment for the song service both morning and evening, and the great volume of music was inspiring to all.

Tonight's evangelistic service will be more in the nature of a house warming and chorus rehearsal, after which Rev. Godbey will deliver a short address outlining plans for the service during the revival. Every body in Port Arthur is invited to attend these services, according to the pastor, and Dr. H. V. A. Godbey extends a special invitation to everyone who can sing to join the large choir. He stated last night he wanted every person in Port Arthur in the choir, saying, "If you can't sing, just open your mouth and make a noise, or if you don't like the melody, sing it to some other tune."

The hours for services during the revival are from 10 to 11 a. m., and 7:30 to 8:30 p. m.

BIG HILL WELL HITS 200 BBLs.

Once Abandoned Field De-livers Deep Test
Special to The News.
BEAUMONT, Texas, April 9.—With a production of between 200 and 300 barrels daily, the first gusher and second oil well at Big Hill, 30 miles southwest of Beaumont, came in Sunday at a depth of 1500 feet on a lease of the Houston Oil company, E. H. Buckner, president of the company, and a Mr. McKubin of Baltimore, stock holder in the concern, were on the scene when the gusher started flowing.

Buckner left Sunday night to make arrangements for bringing storage equipment to the Big Hill territory to take care of the flow from the gusher. The Houston Oil company holds about two-thirds of the Big Hill leases. Other concerns with leases in the territory are the Gulf and Sun companies, besides a number of smaller companies and individuals with small-acre tracts and royalty rights.

After three unsuccessful deep tests at Big Hill, made about 10 years ago by the Texas Company, the oil development work at Big Hill was discontinued until recently. The well brought in Sunday is on land owned by S. W. Pipkin, of this city, and will be known as the Pipkin No. 4.

It is pumping well brought in several months ago and now producing 25 to 50 barrels of oil being known as Pipkin No. 3.

CHAUTAUQUA FOR 1924 IS ASSURED

25 Subscribers As Guarantors, More Expected
Chautauquus will return to Port Arthur next year.

This was the announcement made by Chautauquus officials today, who declare that a number of the twenty-five guarantors needed to bring Chautauquus here next year have been signed up and the remaining number will be signed before tomorrow.

No Sunday program will be given next year, officials announced. There has been a crying demand all over the country, especially in Texas and the Southland to discontinue the Sunday performances, so Ellison-White Chautauquus has acceded to these demands. With the dispensing of the Sunday program added expenses are involved, and the price of the season tickets for Chautauquus has been raised to $5; students $2.50, and children $1.00.

However, Port Arthur guarantors next year need only guarantee a sale of 650 season tickets or a sum of $1050 while this year they had to guarantee a sale of 700 season tickets, or a sum of $1750.

That Chautauquus has become well established in Port Arthur is evidenced by the large sale of season tickets, in addition to the number sold each night. Chautauquus went over the

It is pumping well brought in several months ago and now producing 25 to 50 barrels of oil being known as Pipkin No. 3.

SHIMMYING MADE HIM DRINK, HE TELLS JUDGE

CHICAGO, April 9.—"They always shimmyed and I couldn't stand it, so I took to drink," George Jelinsky, 52 years old, told Judge Joseph Burke in the Shakespeare avenue court. The "they" were Jelinsky's daughters, who had him arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct. They said he came home intoxicated regularly.

Jelinsky added to his story by saying that his daughters brought home young men and entertained them by "shimmying." Judge Richardon placed him under a $1,000 bond to keep the peace for a year, advising him to live by himself.

When You Catch Cold Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and it gets in its good work right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. Just apply Musterole with the fingers. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean white ointment made of oil of mustard and other home samples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bite—colds of all sorts. Seldom fails to deliver results. 35c and 65c jars and tubes; hospital size, $3.00. Better than a mustard plaster.

Oats Ready Before the coffee

Quick Quaker Oats
Cook in 3 to 5 minutes
Quaker Oats now comes in two styles, the Quick and the regular.

Quick Quaker, perfected by our experts, is the quickest cooking oats in the world. It cooks to perfection in 3 to 5 minutes.

Both have the flavor which has made Quaker Oats supreme. Both are flaked from queen grains only—just the rich, plump, savory oats. We get but ten pounds from a bushel.

But in Quick Quaker the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And the small thin flakes cook quickly.

The home pictured here is a sample of modern small-house building at its best. It has all the elements of economical construction and quality of excellent appearance. There are seven large rooms, an abundance of closets and built-in features. Yet it is not too large to be placed on an ordinary city lot, leaving room for a driveway or garage.

The layout of rooms is really an arrangement of Charles E. White Jr., a leading architect of the country, has "Rectangular houses permit better arrangement of rooms, square houses."

The stair hall is sheltered vestibule, containing a coat closet. The living room occupies one side of the house, with windows on three sides, and a fireplace in the

BUILT WISE THAN THEY KNEW

Governor Neff and the law makers of Texas built wiser than they knew when they knew when the former advocated and the latter enacted the reclamation and conservation law. This measure carried an appropriation of $600,000 to defray the cost of making surveys and maps of the river water sheds of the commonwealth. This was constructive legislation long delayed but the forces of progress and development got in behind it and put it over at last.

Now the builders of Baylor and Knox counties, in the water shed of the upper Brazos, are taking time by the fore lock. They have asked for permission to build dams in the upper Brazos in order to conserve the flood waters for irrigation and other purposes. They have filed their application with the water board and they expect to launch a gigantic building program in the near future.

Law makers responded to the call. They authorized an appropriation of $600,000. In coming years appropriations for the prosecution of this work will be gladly made by the law makers of the commonwealth. Huge reservoirs in the valley of the upper Brazos and its water sheds will provide storage capacity for the flood waters that come in fall or spring time and semi-arid land will be reclaimed for the use of mankind.

The writer predicted when the Wichita valley irrigation project was launched that it was the beginning of mammoth enterprises for the impounding of flood waters to be used for the protection or production of crops when the droughts came. Now citizens of Baylor and Knox have asked permission for an inspection of a reservoir site on the Brazos river in Knox county about twenty-five miles west of Seymour.

This they say would drain 18,000 square miles and impound water sufficient to irrigate 100,000 acres of land. In the upper valley of the Brazos, in the counties of Knox and Baylor, there are stretches of valley land that appeal to the eye of the tiller of the soil. There are flourishing hamlets in Knox county and agriculturists who practice dry farming have been very successful even in seasons of drought.

Rhineland is one of the prettiest spots on the map and in that neighbor German or German-American farmers have built homes and coaxed wealth from the soil regardless of summer drought or the winter blizzard. Those who are interested in this latest irrigation project say that that dam would be built at Harding's crossing in Knox county where a survey was made many years ago but the notes lost.

It goes without saying that the state board of water engineers gave a pledge that the inspection would be made under the program of conservation and reclamation adopted for Texas by its leading engineers and crystallized by the 38th legislature. Chief Engineer R. A. Thompson of the Wichita improvement district says that a dam at Harding crossing would not only store storm waters but would prevent heavy floods to a certain extent in the lower Brazos country and that the vast storm waters could be fed into the Wichita Falls reservoir, in Baylor county but in the Wichita valley and which drains on 2,000 square miles. Baylor and Knox are in the jumbo senatorial district represented by Hon. W. H. Bledsoe and their representative in the lower house are C. L. Martin of Baylor and E. L. Covey of Knox. All three voted for the reclamation and conservation act.

Representative Martin, a college bred man, is one of the largest farmers in the upper country and personally supervises 2,300 acres under cultivation. All the enterprising cities and towns in the upper water shed of Texas rivers are building lakes and reservoirs for domestic as well as irrigation purposes. These people of the west know the value of a never failing water supply. They know that it is impossible to build a modern city without an adequate supply and that there is a sufficient rainfall every year to transform semi-desert wastes into productive farms.

If the members of the 38th legislature have nothing else to their constructive credit they are able to point with pardonable pride to the constructive legislative known as the reclamation and conservation act.

Wherever the water flows in the semi-arid regions there the soil responds to the touch of the plow and the hoe and bumper crops reward those who cultivate the broad acres.

LOTHARIO MITCHELL AND HIS SUGAR BABY

John Kearsley Mitchell of Philadelphia is one of the gilded props of the fashionable society of the quaker city. He is a club ornament, a man of millions, a fifty-one year old society butterfly of the male persuasion, the husband of a very aristocratic woman, and the father of two children cradled in the lap of luxury.

His father-in-law is the Statesbury of the house of Morgan, a leading pillar in the house of Mammon, his blood is as blue as indigo, and his word is law in the realm of finance and high society.

All this did not satisfy the debonair perfumed, well groomed and overfed son-in-law. A magnificent country seat, a town house in Philadelphia, fashionable clubs in New York and a winter palace under the skies of Florida could not supply him the proper diversion or satiate the craving of his artistic taste. Dorothy King was a beautiful model, with glorious blonde hair and speaking blue eyes. She had a shapely figure, a fascinating smile, a torpid conscience and she loved the white lights of Broadway. John Kearsley met her, he fell for the enchantress, he surrendered to the lure of her orbs, and the Philadelphia exquise with blood as blue as that of a Hindoo prince surrendered bodily and financially to the gold digger who opened her eyes in a tenement and received her education in the street.

He was known to the lobs and their ladies as "Dot Papa" and she was known to the gay revelers of the night world as "Mr. Marshall's Sugar Baby." He lavished his gold upon her; he bought her jewels and sables; he kept her in a hot house apartment with a butler and maids to do her bidding, and when "Papa" was out of the city, there were male parasites who enjoyed the hospitality and the favors of the mistress in the luxurious nest created for her by the aristocratic bounder who had married himself into the Statesbury millions.

Dorothy is dead. She sleeps with the gold diggers who have come before. She was murdered by blackmailers or a jealous lover, who no doubt came from a tenement and was educated in the street like unto the "Sugar Baby" who had won for a lover "Papa" Mitchell from the sleepy city in the land purchased from the Indians in the long ago by one William Penn. "Papa" Mitchell isn't dead. He is in the public prints. His face is a household picture and his name a household word. He isn't dead but he's having what Eugene Field, in the long ago, would call "a time of a time."

He had to face the reporters and photographers of two great cities; he must be interviewed by the commoners known as detectives, both public and private. He must face Pa and Ma Statesbury and their fashionable friends, but above all and beyond all he must face friend wife, the mother of his children, the mistress of his heart and his home.

She caught him with the goods and to be caught with the goods and then to have it printed must be all enough for "Papa" Mitchell without worrying about that hell in the other world when the going gets bad for him to start on the long, long journey.

THE WHITE ELEPHANT

LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESIDENT, NEWLYWED, TO HIS BACHELOR FRIEND, SYDNEY CARTON

DEAR SYD: I wanted to have a talk with you before I left, but you know how rushed we all were. I tried to explain to Leslie that my second marriage would be a quiet one.

Isn't it strange, Syd, that women have no sense of humor? She didn't see the joke of that remark. Her great eyes filled with tears and she looked me plaintively. "Jack, you couldn't marry any other woman if I should die or go out of your life?" Of course I said, "No, dearest, I couldn't." Don't you see I was joking? When I wanted to say, "I don't know whether I would or not. Other men have been married more than once, you know."

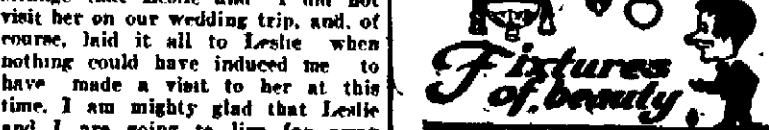

Syd, I wonder how long it takes for people to be married before they can be perfectly honest with each other. Leslie is a wonderful girl, and we are perfectly happy—I am finding out, however, that my wife is very sensitive. The other night in the hotel there was a very fascinating-looking widow whom I made the mistake of admiring to Leslie. I wish you could have heard my wife lay her out. The poor woman had done nothing except smile at me once or twice.

I guess, Syd, I have got to mind my "P's and Q's" from now on. You know I wouldn't hurt Leslie for the world. I can't help thinking what a terrible thing it would have been if I had taken your advice and made a confession to Leslie of the little Perier. She might have forgiven me but, Syd, she never would have forgiven me and worse. I feel sure she would have never allowed me to forget. I tell you, I am going to lay the same straight from now on. It isn't going to be easy, old chum, because, as I told you before, Leslie, I am quite sure, has a jealous complex.

Did you see my mother after the wedding? I hope she got over her annoyance at not being the central figure in the whole business. Mother is a dear woman, Syd, but I must say she thinks mighty well of herself. She thought it very strange that Leslie and I did not visit her on our wedding trip, and, of course, laid it all to Leslie when nothing could have induced me to have made a visit to her at this time. I am mighty glad that Leslie and I are going to live far away from the whole maddening crowd of relatives. Without them Leslie and I will be perfectly happy.

Syd, you will never be as happy as I am until you have married the most wonderful girl in, all the world and that you can never do because she is my wife. I had intended writing you what the old man said to me. I did not fool him at all. He's got my number all right. Will tell you about it the next time I write. Here comes JACK.

"MINNIE"
"Minnie," the latest Marshall Neilan production which opened a four day engagement at the Pearce today is a picture that offers truly exceptional entertainment. Especially rich in comedy values of a nature that anyone will appreciate, at times it is uproariously funny. "Minnie" tells the tale of an ugly duckling, who is untold. Leatrice Joy is in the character role.

Added to this program is another of the new Leather Pusher Rounds.

"BELL BOY 13"
Descending the social scale from the position of scion of a wealthy family to that of bell boy in a big hotel, MacLean does some clever acting that gives a laugh a minute.
"Bell Boy 13" will run today and tomorrow at the Peoples Theatre.

"RIP VAN WINKLE"
"Rip Van Winkle" has reached the screen at last! The lovable old rascal, perfectly played by Thomas Jefferson, will be the featured attraction next Thursday and Friday at the Liberty theatre. The picture is released by Hodkinson.

And we want to tell you here and now that it's just as fine a production as was ever made—one which will hold and thrill and delight you for every foot of its entire length.

Too, a really remarkable cast has been assembled to enact this world-known drama. As has been said, the featured player is Thomas Jefferson, son of the famous "Joe" Jefferson, while the balance of the cast has been drawn from Screenland's favorites.

"Rip Van Winkle" is one picture you simply cannot afford to miss, so be sure to include a visit to the Liberty theatre in your schedule for Thursday or Friday.

California Idea Fails

To Free Drunk Autoist
BOSTON, April 8.—Out in California automobiles follow the street cars.

This was the explanation of Carol T. Hildt, 31, who followed a street car down the incline into the Harvard Square underground station and followed an Arlington car straight through, and out at Mount Auburn street. He was arrested, charged with driving while under the influence of liquor.

SAYS HUSBAND BEAT HER DAILY 7 YEARS
SPRINGFIELD, Mass., April 8.—"We have been married seven years and my husband beat me every day since we were married—except three days."

Mrs. Kondrot Holak, of 165 Sharon street, told this in city court. The husband made it out not so bad as that, saying that he did not beat her every day, but when he drank moonshine he beat her. He was sentenced to two months, but on his promise to quit drinking and wife-beating, his sentence was suspended for two years.

THE NEWS' SOCIAL AND HOUSEHOLD PAGE

New Wedding Invitations Carry a Sprig of Orange Blossoms in Tint Color

The orange blossom is blooming on bridal stationery. The newest wedding invitations, in addition to the formal engraved invitation itself, have a lovely spray of orange blossoms embossed at the center of the top. This embossing may be done in white, with simple raised effect, or the flowers may be in the delicate yellow and white of the natural blossoms. It is a pretty conceit, particularly so in that it carries out the idea of the flower that has long been associated with happy brides from the betrothal to the altar. It used to be that the waxy blossoms, symbolic of purity, were used only to decorate the wedding veil. Sprays of artificial blossoms were often handed down from mother to daughter, and even loaned to friends to wear at their weddings.

Year by year the association of brides with orange blossoms became more appreciated, until now we have a pretty little story, illustrated with the flower of balmy southlands, which begins its first chapter with the platinum and diamond engagement ring, engraved with orange blossoms. This is exactly matched on the wedding ring, which now must be of platinum in orange blossom design.

Next come the invitations, with the same floral emblem embossed upon them. At the wedding the bride's veil is adorned with the traditional spray of white flowers and glowing green leaves, and then, at the wedding breakfast, the bride's bouquet is a spray of white flowers, on the top of which is a hand-painted spray of the same lovely flowers. These bouquets contain small pieces of the bride's cake, which girls take home, and put under their pillows to dream on. Perhaps in their dreams they see visions of themselves among orange blossoms.

"DAWN OF MORNING" is the new thing in bridal bouquets. Cream colored panicles are used for the central motif, sweet peas, soft ribbon bows and showers and a bit of green are mixed with the panicles in such a way as to produce a color that the Chinese so fittingly called "Dawn of Morning." The pink sweet peas, roses and carnations are used in the center of the bouquet that would be too dead white for ribbon without the pink touch. The ribbon background and shower of beautiful ribbon in narrow and wide widths, loses its monotony by small clusters of panicles, roses and green caught here and there, even ending some of the narrow ribbons.

A ribbon colored holder is soft and light for the bride to carry and acts as a protection for the bride's gown, and a protection for the bride's gown. When a bride selects the panicle bouquet her bride-dress should carry flowers that establish a relation between herself and the bride. Such a bouquet is made of blue, pansies, sweet peas and the same green as is used in the bride's bouquet. The bouquets should resemble each other in form and type, and yet be distinctly different. The "Cinderella" as the bridesmaid's bouquet is called, is set in a heavier background of soft ribbon flowers, and the shower is a bit heavier than that carried by the bride and is decorated with sprays of the pansies, roses and fern.

The little flower girl must retain her relationship, florally speaking, to the bride. Her bouquet, which is made a bit more firm than the larger ones carried by the two girl principals in a wedding, is set in a background of narrow ribbons, pale blue pansies, sweet peas, and the same green as is used in the bride's bouquet. The bouquets, combine into a harmonizing and attractive bouquet for the pearly-bride's flower girl.

ELABORATE preparations are being made by the Endowment of the First Christian church and the Presbyterian church to entertain the Endowment Endowment next Friday evening at the First Christian church at 7:30 o'clock.

A delegation of 50 Beantown Endowment will attend Friday evening's entertainment, and it is expected that an equal number of Port Arthur young people will be in attendance to greet them at the First Christian church Friday evening. A roving song service will precede the entertainment, and two talks will be made during the evening, one by Elmer Beantown of Beantown, vice president of the First Christian church, and the other by Rev. F. W. Hermon, pastor of the First Christian church of Beantown. The program will begin at 7:30 o'clock and conclude promptly at 9 o'clock.

During the evening, stunts will be given by each Christian Endowment Society represented at the entertainment. The Beantown Endowment promised several original stunts, but the Port Arthur young people have promised still cleverer stunts. Miss Catherine Crumley is arranging the stunts for the local Presbyterian Endowment, and Mrs. Henry P. Fouts will have charge of the stunts for the E. Society of the First Christian church.

The social committee of the First Christian church society, of which Miss Alma Taylor is chairman, will serve delicious refreshments on this occasion. At the Beantown District Council which met yesterday at the Presbyterian church plans for Friday evening's entertainment and rally were enthusiastically discussed. It is hoped that the young people of both cities will get acquainted better and thereby promote Christian Endeavor work in the district on a large scale. Miss Sophia Jordan, of Beantown, president of the Beantown district, presented at yesterday's session. A cordial invitation is extended to all members of the church and the general public to attend this evening's reception.

SOUTH RETAILER MEET IN MAY WITHOUT NAME

To Pageant Frills of Mere Man

Court Has Peculiar Case to Decide

NEW ORLEANS, April 9.—Fashion's fads and frivolities aren't restricted to the eternal feminine. The average man cares just as much about his clothes as does the fairest beauty.

That's the opinion of southern retail merchants, anyway. And on the strength of it, a style show to be held in New Orleans May 14, 15 and 16, will give just as much attention to men's clothes as it will to women's.

Plans for the style show have just been completed by representatives of practically every retail merchant of Louisiana and Mississippi. The show will be staged at the Orpheum and will have a cast of more than 100 professional performers.

The style show will consist of a series of tableaux, which will show what the whole family, from the newborn baby to the venerable grandfather, who's mighty proud of the fact, should wear on every occasion. There will be bandstand scenes and weddings, theater parties and a few afternoon bridges, cabarets and ballroom scenes.

ONCE WAIF, NOW SHE'S HEIRESS TO A FORTUNE

DETROIT, April 9.—Born in poverty, Georgina Handloser, at the age of six, is sole heir to an estate estimated at a quarter of a million dollars.

Five years ago George W. Handloser and his wife took Georgina from an orphan asylum and adopted her as their own child. Careful investments swelled Handloser's possessions. Mrs. Handloser died three months ago. Georgina's foster father died from injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

Flapper Gone, But 'Pet' Parties Remain Popular

LIMA, Ohio, April 9.—"Petting parties, tea bounds and cake eaters still exist in Lima, but the flapper is gone," declared Miss Ruth Seymour, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A. here.

"I have asked flappers why petting parties go on, and they tell me there is nothing to do and nothing to talk about. When they look about them and see the actions of some older women they think they are justified in their petting. They were a reaction from too stern repression. They were sweet, high-spirited girls, but had too little principle."

Miss Seymour condemned promiscuous kissing as destroying the moral fiber of the young women of the nation, and deplored conditions which permit young girls to be alone at 16 and bored with life at 20.

THAVIN'S BAND TO CLOSE WEEK

Reading and Musical Program Features Sunday

With tomorrow's two inspiring programs, which will be presented by A. F. Thavie and his Exposition Band, Chautauque will close its engagement in Port Arthur. The band is composed of twenty-five selected musicians from the great musical organization which opened and closed the San Francisco Exposition.

Three distinctly artistic personalities entertained Chautauque people last night, when Miss Winifred Windus, dramatic reader, gave the play "Six-Cylinder Love," and was assisted in her program by Miss Leslie Taylor, charming Scotch violinist, and Guy Mariner, distinguished New Zealand pianist.

The play, "Six-Cylinder Love," dealt with the trials and tribulations of a young married couple who mortgaged their home to buy a six-cylinder automobile; and of the young husband's stealing of money from his employer.

The play ends happily, however, and the young husband receives his employer's forgiveness and his former position. Miss Windus, talented, original, and versatile, and possessing all the requisites of the great artist, presented all twelve characters of the play in remarkable manner.

The musical selections given by Miss Taylor and Mr. Mariner were enthusiastically received by the great audience last night. Miss Taylor is a pupil of the great Auer, and her playing last evening was exquisite.

Miss Taylor and Mr. Mariner gave the afternoon prelude yesterday also, following which the smaller folks of Chautauque presented the "Children's Magic Lunar Circus," under the direction of Miss Ethel Bell Kuhn. Much talent was displayed by the Port Arthur youngsters.

1816 WORDS SPELLED CORRECTLY BY STUDENT

ALBANY, N. Y., April 9.—Ray Lunsford of the Needles school won the Howard township spelling contest at Lone Star, when he spelled 1816 words correctly. This feat establishes a new record in Century county contests. Lunsford's nearest contender was Marie Runyan, who dropped out when she failed to spell harmonious.

Other words that sent spellers to their seats were: Surface, since, interrupt, vicinity, and sufficient. Five township winners will meet at Stanberry for the Century county spelling bee.

MORE APPLES NEEDED IN IOWA, FARMERS TOLD

MOUNT PLEASANT, Iowa, April 9.—Despite the abundance of apples grown in Iowa last year, 2,500 were shipped into the state from outside orchards, according to R. S. Bergick, secretary of the Iowa Fruit Growers' Association, who is urging farmers to set out an orchard if they have no fruit on their farms. Henry county is especially adapted to fruit growing, according to the

PRISONERS FREED ON CREDIT

LOS ANGELES, April 9.—Overcrowded city jail, making necessary the freeing of several hundred prisoners, gave the police court of Judge Hugh J. Crawford the appearance of an installment credit office. Fines were met out in all cases, with April 30 set as the date for final payments, and with installments deferred until the financial conditions being run over.

Cato Tricked Caesar In First Filibuster

WASHINGTON, April 9.—During the closing sessions of the sixty-seventh congress ended March 4, filibustering became so common the filibuster at the state department was directed to ascertain how long such parliamentary strategy had been in vogue. He found that the first record of a filibuster turned back the pages of history 1078 years.

Friends of Julius Caesar introduced a bill in the senate to allow Caesar to stand for election as consul by proxy. Senator Cato objected and held the floor all day and night as he found that many senators favored the bill of Julius. When Caesar heard of it, he being near at hand, hurried into Rome next day while the filibuster was still on but Senator Cato had not, having forced Caesar to obey the law.

According to Plutarch, to whom the state department authority referred, Senator Cato took the floor to "waste time." The parliamentary trick, however, appears to be only about 2,000 years old.

Canada Biggest Seller To The U. S. Last Year

MONTREAL, April 9.—Canada led the world in 1932 in exports to the United States. Increase over eleven months of 1931 was only $28,000,000, but it was sufficient to give her the lead over Great Britain by $1,300,000, though exports from the latter increased by $11,000,000.

Canada has been the largest seller to the United States since the war. Before it her American sales were less than those of Germany, as well as Great Britain.

PASTOR-SHERIFF NABS 'SHINERS'

Jail and Church Enlarged Because of his Activities

SOUL LAKE, Texas, April 9.—The Rev. Charles Hughes of Soul Lake has the reputation of being one of the most soul-stirring preachers in East Texas. He is also a deputy sheriff of Hardin county, of which Soul Lake is the county seat.

The other day the Rev. Hughes arrested a bootlegger and took him to jail. As he landed the man in a cell the prisoner asked: "Ain't you a preacher?"

"Yes," was the reply.

"Well," remarked the bootlegger, "I've heard of the law and the gospel all my life, but this is the first time I ever saw them work together."

The Rev. Hughes belongs regularly to the Methodist Conference and is in charge of a congregation here. He preaches powerful sermons on Sunday and during the week he makes lawbreakers' hearts ache.

He brought about the building of a new $50,000 church for his congregation and at the same time he brought in so many prisoners that the size of the jail had to be enlarged.

It's all in a day's work with the Rev. Hughes. During a revival recently he went out before breakfast and captured seven bootleggers; at 11 o'clock the same morning he preached a sermon; at 2 he conducted a funeral service; at 8 he preached another sermon; and that night he went to bed he raided a still.

The personal equipment of the Rev. Hughes as he goes about town and into the country contiguous thereto is a pocket Bible and two revolvers.

Hotel Sues Government For Scaring Its Guests

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., April 7.—The company that owns the Pocomtucket Hotel at Gerards Island claims damages of the government for $750,000 on the ground that the firing of guns at Fort Foster nearly drove off the hotel's guests.

A representative of the government was here recently viewing the site of the hotel, now taken down, and retaining ex-Senator Oscar L. Frisbee to look after the case locally.

TIED OF BEING RUN OVER, KILLS CAFE MAN

REINZ, Miss., April 9.—Charlie Rinehart, 24, proprietor of a local restaurant, was killed almost instantly when he was shot by Ohio Green, 27, son of J. R. Green, a merchant of this place. There had been blood between the two for some time.

Green submitted quietly to arrest and was taken to Corinth and placed in jail. He would make no statement, and with installments deferred until the financial conditions being run over.

Of the score of youngsters taken south by the New York Yankees, not over a half dozen will be retained. Three recruits certainly to be held for further inspection are Outfielders Tucker and Haines and Catcher Bengough.

The cases of Tucker and Haines are unusual. Haines is a great fielder, very fast and a wonderful runner, but rather shy with the stick. Tucker, a left-handed batsman, can sure hit them, but has much to learn as a fielder.

If Haines could hit like Tucker and Tucker could field like Haines, they would win regular berths in the outfield. Bengough, with Buffalo last year, will be retained as third string catcher. He has great promise.

BAMBINO DOES BEST TO LINE UP FOR SEASON

Babe Starts Hitting Out Old Circuit Clouts

NEW YORK, April 9.—Babe Ruth is the greatest exponent of the superlative that ever graced any line of sport. All through the more famous part of his career, a "too," has been attached to every descriptive of the swat king.

Last year, he was too fat and too careless and he slipped from the best almost to the worst. This year early in his career, he was too thin and too anxious. He was once too diffident and now he is too careful, and in another couple of months the verdict may be "It's too bad!"

Ruth is doing his best to get a clean start this year and while his redefined morals are being commended his ambitions are being put on the pan. Babe didn't start hitting homers until yesterday, when he smacked one off Harry Harper, the former Yankee southpaw, who is now hurling for the Brooklyn Robins. Perhaps his initial swat of the exhibition series will be discounted because "he oughta know Harper."

But along the same line of reasoning, Harper should be familiar with the Babe's "groove," if he has one. It is said down south that the Babe was swinging too long, and was "pulling" a slug of the ball. Then he started choking the bat and the critics waited that he might become a 500 batter of little singles, doubles, and triples that way, but that wasn't his stuff.

The Babe says that his vision is so defective he cannot read the papers, and no doubt it is well for him that he cannot because much of the complaint from an army of critics, all of the different opinions, would set him buzzing in the brain of an ordinary human.

With a few exceptions, such as an occasional invasion of the stands to silence a "dirty crack," the Babe has gone about his business in his own way, and perhaps he will do it this year.

The Babe is inclined to worry within himself, however, and since he has developed a keen sense of duty toward what he regards as his public duty he might be too anxious this year and if he doesn't get away good he may suffer from non-confidence.

Let the bam get one good smack out of the New York park in the first series and he may not stop for the rest of the year.

Help! Groh, proved in the style purists that everything does not depend upon stater at the bat or the method of gripping, and Babe should be allowed to figure out his own re-temptation.

CLOSE COURT SEASON
CANTON, April 9.—The Canton girls basketball team defeated Jacksonville at Linder Saturday for the championship of East Texas. The winners will play Waco, Central Texas champion, the winners of that contest to meet Monday, champions of West Texas.

DARKNESS EN'S TILT
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 9.—Darkness battled the game here yesterday between the Detroit Tigers and St. Louis Cardinals. The score was 11 all when the players took the field.

Frank Pratt and Horsey featured with homers. The two teams will play again Sunday.

BEAUMONT COPS SECOND ROUND OF PLAY IN GOLF BETWEEN 4-CITY CLUBS

Dr. Poindexter Turns in Best Card For Local Sixette; Visitors Loud in Praise of Treatment Accorded Here

Playing a crack team of six against an excellent field, the Beaumonters won 34 pointers, lost 16 and drew 4. Lake Charles and Orange's Country Club representatives followed in order, and Port Arthur, represented by the cream of golfing exponents from the nation's fifth port, fell far short of what they had expected to do.

"We were accorded excellent treatment," the visiting players remarked following the tourney play; they were unanimous in their praise of the "feed" prepared in their honor at noon yesterday, and which was staged at the Port Arthur Country Club, in their praise of the condition of the local golf club course. The Country Club had gone to special pains to condition the course for the event, which attracted a large gallery to the field.

Despite the heavy clouds which hung over the city the greater part of the afternoon, the sun beamed out at the players when they started off at 1 o'clock to a fair field.

Dr. Poindexter, played the best round for the Port Arthur Country Club. However, his score of 101 was not enough to win in the Inter-City affair. Dr. Poindexter went out in 48 and came back with a 53 for his 101. I. Moffat played next to him with a 103 in the medal play.

Tenn scoring shows the following results:

Team Beaumont Won. Lost. Draw
Beaumont 34 16 4
Lake Charles 28 20 8
Orange 21 14 3
Port Arthur 5 46 3

Individual scoring in the medal play showed Alfred Roberts of the Lake Charles Country Club and Letcher Brown of the Orange club tied for the honors, both with an 87. Brown went out in 43, in 44, while Roberts turned in the same card.

The medal play scoring follows:

ELKS 2-YEAR PLEDGED WITH THEIR OWNERS

Others Could Do Better With Better Pitchers

BY KELLY EVANS
"If my team gets the pitching we will make plenty of trouble."

That was the statement made by the Elks, who are the owners of the Elks baseball team, who are the owners of the Elks baseball team, who are the owners of the Elks baseball team.

Manager Bill Killefer of the Chicago Cubs is optimistic as to his team's chances. In the belief that the Cubs will get much improved pitching.

Alexander had a season of ups and downs in 1933, in which he was able to get no better than 16 wins against 13 defeats. Alexander should win at least 20 games this year and may do considerably better.

Like Walter Johnson, Alexander may be slipping a bit, but he is far from through.

The burden of the Cubs' pitching seems to rest with Alexander, Alridge, O'Brien and Cheever. These four veterans are husky right-handers. An equally good southpaw would no doubt be welcomed by Killefer.

In an effort to develop a southpaw Killefer is experimenting with four likely recruits, Farnell, Hoige and the Danvers brothers. Farnell is showing the best of the lot and seems certain of landing a regular berth. He has good speed, a nice curve, and is working on a change of pace which when acquired, will make him a most capable performer. Last fall he turned in a three-hit victory against Pittsburgh.

Nick Danovich, the elder of the brothers, toiled with Los Angeles last year and had a big season with 20 wins out of 20. He is the more experienced of all the recruits and seems ripe for the big show.

Aside from expecting better things from Alexander, Killefer undoubtedly is banking most on Ernie O'Connor. In the city series with the Sox he twice beat Gleason's troupe, and in his other start lost a heart-breaking 1 to 0 affair to Red Faber.

O'Connor looms up as one of the "iron men" of the pitcher's box in league. His great physique should enable him to do all kinds of work, another Ed Walsh. It would explain a great surprise if he was one of the outstanding pitching stars of the older league during the coming season.

With the exception of second base there probably will be no change in the makeup of the Cubs for the coming season. At present Grantham, who Chicago last season, who who did very little playing, is slated for second. Grimes will be at first and the

VALLEYMAN ART OF TENNIS SAYS REWARDS

No Player Has Success Without It

BY VINCENT MORGAN
(Copyright, 1934, by Vincent Morgan, Inc.)

The art of volleying is nothing more than taking the ball in mid-air or up close to the net, while it is in the air, and returning it to your opponent's court.

The greatest volleyer in the world today is "Little Bill" Johnston, the California wonder. Johnston is the greatest natural volleyer that I have ever seen. He is a marvel on what is called shoulder-high "volleys." To feed the ball to him at that height means a sure point for the little coast-guard.

It is doubtful if a man could win the national singles championship the way the game is played today, without acquiring the art of volleying. The back-court game is fine, but one must be able to go into the net position to finish off your point or the other man will.

I volley with a full sweep of the racket. Many other players employ only what is known as the block volley. Men who possess only this shot generally are without speed on their volleys. The full sweep of the arm imparts the needed speed to your volleys, which is so necessary when you are at the net position.

William T. Tilden, world's greatest tennis player, in not a natural volleyer by any means. It is only the last year or two that a critic could claim Tilden's volleying as first class.

Always remember to volley with a stiff wrist. Be sure to delay your education to the last possible fraction of the second, as it keeps your opponent guessing just that much longer.

If your volleying is weak at your feet, advance toward the net, eliminating the "half-volley" if you possibly can, as it is out of the hardest shots in the game of lawn tennis today.

The way I learned to volley was simple. I took a half a dozen balls and found a brick wall and practiced hitting the ball in the air for hours at a time. I would suggest all young players to try this method in the early stages of their career.
